Residential Customers with Life-Support Equipment

If you or someone in your household relies on electrically operated life-support equipment, you should prepare a backup plan, in case of a power outage.

CL&P will contact you with advance notice about scheduled outages in your area. That's why it's important that you complete this form and mail it to us with your bill payment.

If you've already identified yourself to us and have received a letter from CL&P indicating that we would notify you in the event of an outage, you do not need to send in another form.
