

POWER PROTECTION ORDER FORM

Order additional plug-in protection today!

An additional Plug-In surge protector, installed at each electrical outlet inside your home is needed to protect each electronic appliance that is plugged into the individual outlet: such as computers, TVs, VCRs, stereos, answering machines, etc. For whole home protection we recommend a plug-in surge protector at each outlet where equipment requires protection even if you have installed a HOMEGUARD meter device.

The plug-in protector is the only device that can safeguard against surges entering through cable TV and phone lines and surges caused when large appliances are turned on and off within your home.
